Continue with the road past the turn-off for Barrydale via Tradouwpass. The tar road changes to a dirt road. When you get to an intersection, you go straight through (there's a CapeNature sign with the name Grootvadersbosch). Continue till the T-junction and turn left & keep left at the fork in the road (at both these places are CapeNature signs with our name). The road ends in the reserve and the dirt road is more or less 12 km. As you enter the reserve you will get the parking area on you left, as well as the information centre & campsites. (Keep following the Green and Blue CapeNature signs and you will find Grootvadersbosch very easily)

The reserve has plenty of hiking trails and mountain bikes trails available, while two bird hides are also available on the reserve. Please note there is little to no cell phone reception on the reserve.
